LEARNING GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The objective of this course is to introduce doctoral students from diverse fields to different mathematical models in the accounting, finance, and taxation literature. Classic and current models from asset pricing, information, contracting and incentives, taxation will be discussed. While the course will be mathematically rigorous in its essence, it will tend to focus quite a bit on the modeling intuition and insights.

PREREQUISITES

Students registered for this class are expected to have taken the required Accounting, Finance, Microeconomics, and Statistics classes at the graduate level Please talk to me if you have any concerns.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

I do NOT tolerate cheating. Students are responsible for understanding the RU Academic Integrity Policy (<http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/>).

I will strongly enforce this Policy and pursue all violations. On all examinations and assignments, students must sign the RU Honor Pledge, which states, “On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination or assignment.” I will screen all written assignments through SafeAssign or Turnitin, plagiarism detection services that compare the work against a large database of past work. Don’t let cheating destroy your hard-earned opportunity to learn. See business.rutgers.edu/ai for more details.

ATTENDANCE AND PREPARATION POLICY

-Barring unforeseen circumstances, I expect to be teaching all scheduled class sessions. Similarly, barring unforeseen circumstances or religious observances, I expect all my students to attend every class session. If I am to be absent, the EMBA office, or I will send you notice via email and Canvas as far in advance as possible. If you are to be absent, report your absence in advance at <https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/>. If your absence is due to religious observance, a Rutgers-approved activity, illness, or family emergency/death and you seek makeup work, also send an email with full details and supporting documentation [within 10 days of your first absence

- For weather emergencies, consult the campus home page. If the campus is open, class will be held.
- I expect to arrive on time for each class and I expect the same of you. I expect my class sessions and lectures to take up all the allotted time, and I would expect you to attend the full session in every class. I expect you will have a valid reason if you come in late or have to leave a class early, I expect you will come fully prepared for classes and expect you to participate fully.

CLASSROOM CONDUCT

I expect you to be considerate to your classmates and the professor, follow class decorum, and make the learning experience to be both positive and rewarding.

EXAM DATES AND POLICIES

There will be a final take home examination. Specific details of the final examination will be announced in the last class session before the examination date.

During exams, the following rules apply:

- If you have a disability that influences testing procedures, provide me an official letter from the Office of Disability Services at the start of the semester.

GRADING POLICY

Your final grade is not subject to negotiation. If you have any questions, please submit your written request to me within one week of receiving your final grade and provide all due supporting documentation. If your case merits a revision of grade, I will gladly correct it. I cannot and will not adjust grades based on consequences, such as hurt pride, lost scholarships, lost tuition reimbursement, lost job opportunities, or dismissals. Do not ask me to do so. According to the policies of the University, it is not honest to attempt to influence faculty in an effort to obtain a grade that you did not earn.

Your grade will be based on your performance on the final examination.
